Representation of the data that has to be included in each dataset. Each Rectangle represents one type of data. The black rectangles represent free format data and the blue rectangles represent standardized format data. The list of names associated with the blue rectangles represent required column names. Each buble represent the name of the code that can be used to produce the fixed format data.